

Endeavor Snowboard Reviews

Endeavor Roots - 2010

Snowboard reviewed by Tom Ewbank - (0) comments.

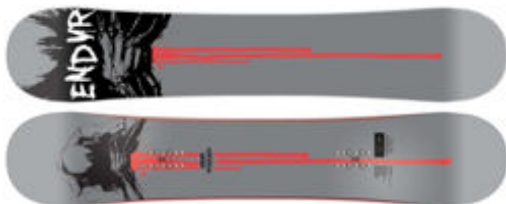

The Roots Series is a softer ride for lighter riders but with carbon stringers for extra pop. The Roots has a centered stance and a twin shape resulting in a park and pipe specific deck. Limited availability out of Japan, and probably one of the best looking boards of the season... well that's our opinion anyway.

Read the full review of the 2010 Roots Snowboard.

Endeavor Next Series RC - 2010

Snowboard reviewed by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

The Next Series rockered brother, the RC delivers great float in powder and incredible response edge-to-edge in the deep stuff. A stunning board for killing it all over the mountain from park to pow.

Probably a little heavy for light and feeble riders.

Read the full review of the 2010 Next Series RC Snowboard.

Endeavor Diamond - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

The Diamond is a responsive torsionally stiffer ride for hitting bigger jumps and venturing out of bounds. A versatile directional ride with carbon reinforcement for holding an edge in critical circumstances.

Read the full review of the 2010 Diamond Snowboard.

Endeavor Boyfriend - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

A softer flex and low profile tip and tail, make the Boyfriend enjoyable to jib about. Available as a rocker in the 148, which is even more playfull and forgiving for the girls. For girls who want to keep up with their Boyfriends in the park.

Read the full review of the 2010 Boyfriend Snowboard.

Endeavor Guerrilla - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

The Endeavor Guerilla has a mellow sidecut and biaxial glass for a softer torsional flex and easy initiation into turns. The Guerrilla will help beginners and intermediate riders progress. The 160 has a longer nose and set-back stance for extra float in the deep stuff.

Read the full review of the 2010 Guerrilla Snowboard.

Endeavor Colour - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

Smaller sized boards for jibbing and technical spins onto rails, size up for slopestyle riding. The Endeavor Colour provides plenty of confidence for hitting rails, tables and hips. Also available with a rocker profile in 151cm.

Read the full review of the 2010 Colour Snowboard.

Endeavor Board of Directors (BOD) - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (3) comments.

Endeavor's all-mountain aggressive freestyle board, with plenty of carbon fibre to stiffen up the torsional flex and Quaruba an exotic african wood in the core to increase pop and reduce the weight. The Board of Directors is the board the big dogs at Endeavor ride so it can't be bad!

Read the full review of the 2010 Board of Directors \(BOD\) Snowboard.

Endeavor High 5 - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

Flat Kick nose and tail for versatility in deeper snow and increased press-ability on boxes and rails. Carbon stringers and triaxial glass equip the High-5 for aggressive park domination. A no nonsense park board for advanced riders.

Read the full review of the 2010 High 5 Snowboard.

Endeavor Live - 2010

Snowboard added by Rich Ewbank - (0) comments.

A go-to, freestyle everything snowboard, and the best selling board in the Endeavor range. Pimped up for 2009/10 with neon sidewalls and available with rocker construction in the 156.

Read the full review of the 2010 Live Snowboard.